

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT WEST POINT

The Hunting Season Opens With Birds Plentiful.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WEST POINT, VA., November 4.—
"On Halloween, at 9 o'clock, three upon our portals knock!
The door will open and you will see Unearthly sights of mystery."

Such were the invitations, adorned with startling black cats, that were received by the young people of West Point, bidding them come to a "Witches' Revel" at the home of Miss Lillian Roberts, given in honor of her guest, Miss Clara Wilder, of Irvington, Va. The hostess was assisted in receiving by Miss Wilder, Miss Puryear and Miss Owens—two as witches and two in chivalry array.

The first thing on the programme was a music routine. Miss Jessie Penwood sang first prize and Miss Clyde De Far-goes second prize. "The Booby." Old fashioned games, such as bobbing apples, roasting chestnuts and trying fortunes in various ways, were indulged in until 11 o'clock, when the doors of the dining room were thrown open and the guests were served a genuine Halloween supper.

At the witching hour of midnight, amid dim lights of grotesque jack-o'-lanterns, blood curdling ghost stories and weird music, alarm clocks, concealed in every corner of the room, began a deafening noise, causing some feminine shrieks and How About Underwear?

These cool nights and mornings give you a chilly feeling, don't they?
Well, a suit of medium-weight underwear will remedy the trouble, and we have all the proper weights for now.

Linen Mesh,
Medium-Weight Silk,
Medium-Weight Wool,
Medium-Weight Balbriggan.

Gloves that will make your hands feel more comfortable are also here.
For the best in Haberdashery and Hosiery we are yourself to serve.

present week, and in the lead was a charming affair given by Miss Kate Gleason, in the large and handsome hall of the Howard Hotel Building. It was a most delightful occasion. The hostess was assisted in the gracious art of receiving by Mrs. Theodore Rugeley and Misses Katherine Mohr and Katie Fick.

Another unique affair and one of much pleasure was given by the Luther League under the leadership of Mrs. R. C. Harrison. The affair was a "Ghosts' Gathering of Spooky Stories."

Last Monday afternoon from 5 to 7:30 o'clock the ladies of the North Carolina Society entertained their friends at a reception given for the express purpose of displaying to the public the society's large and handsome library, the pleasure and benefit of the public gratuitously.

All eyes of society are turned upon the Masonic bazaar, which is taking place for several nights, and in which hundreds of ladies are taking direct interest. A feature of the event will be a night dance in the large and splendid ball-room of the imposing Masonic Temple. Heads of the different committees, each being prominent in the city, have been appointed as follows:

Donations—Mr. C. C. Brown, Printing-Mr. Eustace Norfleet, Decorations—Mr.
J. W. A. Johnson, Music—Prof. E. H.
Munson, Wilmington Lodge's Booth—Mrs.
R. H. Grant, Orient Lodge's Booth—Mrs.
McEachern, St. John's Lodge's Booth—Mrs. R. W. Price, Country Store—Mrs.
M. S. Willard, Candy Booth—Mrs. W. A.
French, Jr., Lemonade Booth—Mrs. J. H.
Watters, Flower Booth—Mrs. R. C. Harrison, Dancing Hall—Mrs. Richard Bradley, and Children's Day—Miss Mamie Alderman.

Another delightful event on tapis is a reception to be given by the ladies Thanksgiving Day at the James Walker Memorial Hospital.

SCOTTSVILLE, VA.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

SCOTTSVILLE, VA., November 4.—A very enjoyable Halloween frolic was given at "Paradise," the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Harris on Tuesday evening, the main feature of the occasion being a "ghost dance" in the big dimlylighted hall of the house. Waxed indeed the figures in their spectral draperies with masks of varied expressions, grimacing and quizzical. This was followed by fortune-telling and other games. Chocolate, cake, bananas, grapes and apples were served later. Those present were Misses Grace Burgess, of Richmond; Marjorie and Helen Harris, of Beal, Mary Dull, Annie Farrar, Meadams F. H. Farrar and C. B. Harris, and Messrs. Tom Leckie, Cary Moon, H. E.
Harris, S. B. Gault, C. B. Harris, Jr., Pitts, Charlie Darrier, W. S. Dabney, Wright Manner and Bledsoe Bond.

After several hours of revelry at "Paradise," the gentlemen spooked took themselves to the village, where the roll was called (many answering strange to say, who were not present), and at 10 o'clock breakfast served at three o'clock in the morning. Mysterious barricades like mushrooms sprang up in the night, were found in the street at sunrise.

Mrs. D. P. Powers, Mrs. A. G. Bell and Master Gilbert Bell have returned from Richmond.
Mr. N. Y. Schuler will leave shortly for Esomont to engage in business.
Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Darrier have returned from their bridal trip.

Flat and Tenement.

Lady—What is the real difference between an apartment, a flat and a tenement house?

Janitor—In an apartment the ladies don't have no children; in a flat they have one or two. More than two makes any house a tenement, mum.—Judge.

THE CURVED BRIDGE AT RADFORD TO BE REMOVED

Grade Too Heavy and Norfolk Western Abandons
It.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

RADFORD, VA., November 4.—One of the chief charms of Radford's landscape is her bridge. Three big steel structures span New River, connecting the town with the little village of New River and with North Radford, on the Pulaski side of the river.

The big wagon bridge opposite St. Albans is a quarter of a mile long and about seventy feet high. It was built about fifteen years ago by a Philadelphia land company, was afterwards owned by Colonel George W. Miles, and is now the property of Mr. Lewis Harvey, of Montgomery county. It is a toll bridge, and there is a vigorous movement afoot to effect its purchase by the town. The heavy tolls are highly detrimental to the business of the merchants, as it turns to other towns the trade of the farmers for miles around. The citizens of the town are almost unanimous in their demands for a free bridge. The hitch comes in the high price asked by the present owner.

The third bridge, looking west, the railroad bridge on the main line of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, is being replaced by a new steel structure, the work having been in progress for several months.

And now the middle bridge, the beautiful curved railroad bridge on the New River division, resounds to the clang of tools and the strident voice of the derrick.
For this splendid structure is being torn down, and will be removed—a part to the Cripple Creek road and a part to the Clinch Valley division of the Norfolk and Western.

For some months the bridge has not been used, owing to the fact that the road between Bell Spring and Radford has been torn up, and trains from Chicago, Columbus and Bluefield enter the town by way of Walton and East Radford, instead of Radford.

This change was made because of the excessively heavy grade. Two engines were required to do the work of one on ordinary grades.

The new route is low-grade, and cuts off seven miles, in the bargain. Thus the new route has been dubbed "The Cut-Off," and Walton, four miles east of East Radford, is really the terminal of the New River division, instead of Radford, as heretofore.

But there is no railway station, no hotel there; nothing except steel rails and forest primeval. Southwestward trains run up to East Radford over the main line, where passengers change cars for all points between Norfolk and Bristol.

Thus East Radford is practically the terminal of the New River branch, and Hotel Sheraspe the benefit, instead of the West End Hotel, as formerly.

The old road between Bell Spring and Radford has been torn up, and now the beautiful bridge in which Radford has felt such pride is doomed. Utility is what counts to-day, and apart from adding an aesthetic touch to the landscape, the contractor for stone work, and the steel work was done by the Phoenix Bridge Company.

The bridge is nine hundred and thirty feet long and fifty-seven feet above the water; curvature, nine degrees; grade, one degree. It is conceded to be a remarkably fine specimen of engineering skill, and its beauty of outline has given it a place in the affections of Radford people, which causes universal regret that it will soon disappear from the landscape.

The work of tearing down the bridge, which is in charge of Mr. William Anderson, of the Norfolk and Western, will require several months.

RADFORD SOCIAL
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

RADFORD, VA., Nov. 4.—Mrs. Waverly N. Ragland entertained the Current Events Club Saturday. The subject of the afternoon, "Trades Unions," was ably discussed by Mrs. G. T. Kearsley and Mrs. Ragland, two of the club's head entertained at their home in South Chatham.

The invitations, which were very appropriate and nobly, each requested the respondent to bring a dish, and there were plenty of them. The house was very tastefully decorated with autumn leaves and blending with the illumination of the room, the effect was presented a most appropriate scene. At the gain the guests were met by the hostess, who safely conducted them to the home, where they were received by the hostess and made to spend a most delightful evening. Fortunately, there were numerous and visiting the various rooms proved most delightful.

The shadow cast, in which a canvas was stretched, on which was thrown shadows of the young ladies while the young men on opposite side guessed. The guests then drew shells buried deep in sawdust, containing slips of paper telling where to find their fortune and how to see them.

Miss Wilson, as guest of honor, was presented with a very pretty box, which she proceeded to open, releasing a large black cat, which caused much scampering among the fair sex.
Several recitations added much to the occasion, after which punch, iced lemonade, cranberries, chicken salad, olives and chocolate were served. Prize for the best lantern was presented to Miss Eva Whitmore.

Miss Kate White entertained the younger people of the town, and the affair was a success, and were given a most cordial welcome.
Guessing advertisements was the feature of the evening, in which each guest was given the first prize was warmly contested for. In which Miss Reba Turner came out winner and was awarded the prize, a pretty cash box.

Miss Eva Trewey fell heir to the booty, a small box of 24-gauge snags. Numerous prizes were then enjoyed and refreshments followed by the serving of delicious refreshments.

Saturday afternoon Miss Ida Ragland entertained a large party of her friends at whist. Several tables were filled, and the game was one of pleasure and mirth from evening through. When coming time came Mrs. N. E. Clement held the highest number of stars, and was donated the handsome first prize. Mrs. M. E. Owens, captain, returned in solution. Serving of refreshments concluded the pleasure of the afternoon.

Miss Sara Jones, New York, visited Miss Carrie White this week.
Mrs. James P. Woods returned to Roanoke this week after a visit of several days to relatives.

Miss Mattie Martin has been elected delegate to the Baptist State Convention, to be held in Fredericksburg from the Chatham Episcopal Society.

The Baptist Church Tuesday night elected delegates to the Baptist State Convention in Charlottesville about middle of November.

A delightful Halloween party was given by Miss Minnie Curd at her home at Edgewater. Some of her guests were Misses Marjorie and Alphonse Gilling, Jenn and Mary Broughton, Eunice Gilling, Rena Miller, Hester Riddle and Gunter Guy; Masters Mary and Brown, Alex. and Thomas Broughton, Samuel Face, Willmore Foster, Thomas Woodward, Thomas and Preston Wilkes and Richard Poole.

Miss Marjorie Couper entertained a few friends at a Halloween party at her home on Boush Street. The most successful in all the games was Miss May Boeman, who received the prize. Those present were Misses Mary and Elizabeth Brooke, May Bosman, Pearl Rattew, Frances Waddy, Mary Waller and Francis Jermain.

Master Alexander Bell gave a Halloween party at his home on Boush Street.
Those present were Misses Sarah Woodhouse, Frances Hoggard, Fannie Powell and Alice Bell; Masters Ambler Wilcox, Randolph Coupland, Lawrence Atkinson, Jr., and Wiley Cooke.

Miss Cummings, of Alexandria; Mrs.
Sampson, of Charlottesville; Mrs. J. C.
Freeman, Mrs. Holson and Mr. Louis McKenzie Judkins, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. Tyley, of West Virginia, attended the wedding at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Jenkins, on Warren Crescent, of Miss Esther McKenzie B. Judkins to Rev. Roger S. Tyley, of Leesburg, Va.

An anti-nuptial reception was held Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Burton at their residence, No. 217 Loyd Avenue, in honor of their daughter, Miss Mary V. Burton, who was married to Mr. James B. Dey, Jr. The rooms were decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums and palms. Mr. and Mrs. Burton and Mr. Dey received their congratulations, and those who assisted in serving were Mrs. J. R. Burton, Miss Florence Edmonds and Miss Georgie Borum, of Suffolk. Some of those present were Mrs. James B. Dey, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dey, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Eichelard, Mrs. Thibaut Dey, Mr. and Mrs. James B.

Baker, Mr. Clarence B. Hill, Mrs. Robert Old, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Davenport, Mr. and Mrs.
W. L. Murray, Mrs. W. H. Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Meyers, Mr. and Mrs.

uel W. McGinn, Mr. Venus Gay and Mr.
Andrew G. Bailey.

At the meeting of the Senior German Club the old officers were re-elected, with the exception of Mr. Wallington Hardy, on the committee, instead of Mr. W. W.
Old, Jr., who will be in Richmond this winter. It was decided that the game will be held in the new German club, and the membership list will be increased to a hundred, which is now sixty.

Lieutenant Pitt Scott, U. S. N., entertained at breakfast Saturday on board the U. S. S. Missouri. His guests were Miss Margaret Ramsey, of Baltimore; Miss Josephine Cooke, Miss Alice Kelley, Miss Dorothy W. Jenkins, of Richmond, and
